New England's Monthly Numismatic Catalog

NERCG Offers Free World Coin Catalogs in 1980

Welcome to New England Rare Coin Galleries' first numismatic catalog of 1980. Last year, through Inventory Selections, New England was proud to offer you the world's largest selection of high-quality U.S. rare coinage, as well as exquisite examples of U.S. Currency and World Coinage, each month. This year, we plan to expand upon that tradition. For example, we will soon be publishing the premiere issue of our World Coin catalog, which will regularly feature a World Coin market report, a World Coin show schedule and New England's entire retail selection of high-quality World Coinage. And as a special thank-you to current Inventory Selections customers, New England is offering free trial subscriptions to the World Coin Catalog. For details, see our special catalog offer on page 25 of this month's Inventory Selections.

New England Rare Coin Auctions is starting its year by conducting the first major auction of 1980: the Silver Anniversary Florida United Numismatists Auction. As this issue of Inventory Selections goes to press, the final bids are being tallied. We'll have a special report on prices realized next month.

Market watchers: Be sure to study our Numismatic Price Index summary of U.S. rare coin price trends for 1979 on pages 15-17. It illustrates why more new collectors are entering today's rare coin market than ever before.

The Gallery Window

A special series profiling
New England Rare Coin Galleries' numismatic experts.

Russell Vaughn

Behind the soft-spoken manner of New England's Purchasing Manager, Russell Vaughn, stands a history of tremendous accomplishment. Along with such numismatic luminaries as Walter Breen, James Halperin and Q. David Bowers, Russell is a contributor to the 1980 Guide Book of United States Coins. It was Russell who served as New England Rare Coin Auctions' first President, Russell who suggested the New England Shilling for the NERCG logo — and it is Russell who has been collecting and dealing in coins for more years than any other numismatist on the New England staff.

"I bought my first coin album in 1950. I remember the date because the last coin in the album was a 1950-D nickel." At the age of 11, Russell spent his free time, and his entire $1 per week allowance, at a small coin and stamp shop in West Warwick, Rhode Island. "One day I bought a box of old stamps at an antique auction and I took them to the shop to see what they were worth. The shop owner told me they were not worth much, but that if I wanted to be where the money was, I ought to get into coins. He showed me a '39-D nickel for which he said he would pay 75¢. Amazed, I went to a bank and bought $10 worth of nickels and, by sheer coincidence, there was a '39-D in the batch. That's when I told myself, 'This is for me!'"

The years that followed were filled with numerous numismatic endeavors. Russell began attending coin shows regularly and working part-time as a coin auction cashier. After studying Engineering Physics at the University of Rhode Island, he entered the coin business full time and, in 1968, opened the Yankee Coin Shop in Cranston, R.I. "A robbery — and, again, sheer coincidence — brought that to an end. I just happened to be carrying a major portion of my inventory in my car on a day so rainy that my shop's door lock froze. I had to leave the coins in the car — and, of course, the car was broken into that night." Later, Russell briefly operated a second shop, but he longed to work with a group of fellow coin enthusiasts. "That was when Jim Halperin (New England's founder) approached me."

Russell describes his present NERCG duties as "consultant to everyone on everything." And after reviewing his past, he shakes his head in astonishment at the present. "Current coin price levels are rising so rapidly. . . . remember our buying two original rolls of Barber Dimes in 1973 at about $25 a coin. Today, they're worth $1,000 a coin. It is incredible."

The silver dollar collection of the late multi-millionaire LaVere Redfield is the most famous in numismatic history. It was discovered in 1974 when IRS agents tore down a cardboard wall in the basement of the Redfield mansion. There, carefully stacked in bank bags, were 407,283 Morgan and Peace Dollars — the largest silver dollar collection in history — later purchased by a Los Angeles coin dealer for the largest sum ever to change hands in a single numismatic transaction: $7,000,000.

The excitement caused by the Redfield discovery ignited a major collecting boom whose effects are still being felt today. Truly, these coins are significant pieces of numismatic history. And New England now offers a select portion of the Redfield Morgan Dollar Collection to Inventory Selections readers. For these coins only, we've extended our regular 45-day return privilege to 6 months, because we are sure you will be totally pleased with these lovely silver gems.

Market Report

by Tim LaPointe

At the shows

As this issue of Inventory Selections goes to press, the 25th annual Florida United Numismatists (F.U.N.) Convention is in full swing. The show is being held in Orlando, Florida at the Sheraton Twin Towers Hotel, and includes an auction conducted by New England Rare Coin Auctions. Presently, information coming from the show has been spotty. New England numismatists report that trading is so heavy that there is little time to assimilate all the activity. Attendance at the show is extremely high and many dealers on the bourse floor are finding that their inventories of choice coinage are quickly disappearing.

At the first two sessions of the F.U.N. Auction, choice type coins were the heavy hitters, with Three Cent Nickels, Two Cent Pieces and Three Cent Silver proving exceedingly strong. For example, an 1865 Three Cent Nickel proof (in Proof-63) reportedly went under the hammer for $4,000, and an 1857 Three Cent Silver Piece (Type Two) in MS-65 sold for $2,400. Other strong prices realized include an 1868-S Seated Dime in MS-67, Full Strike, selling for $2,200 and an 1870 Seated Quarter Proof (in Proof-65) selling for $2,700. Next month, Inventory Selections' Market Report will bring you further information on the record-breaking trading that is going on right now at this major numismatic event.

U.S. Gold

It is impossible to ignore the power of the gold market these days. Quotes on gold bullion have run as high as $675 per ounce in Hong Kong, and have currently settled back down to around $600. However, many market analysts still see fluctuations ahead, and before buying bullion-related coinage it is now doubly important for the collector to get an accurate, current price quote. Some major teletype systems are now including this message: "Gold prices subject to instant change."

In response to this situation, European banks have curtailed sales of choice gold coinage, leaving such pieces in very limited supply on today's active market. Prices for such coins have subsequently risen at a dramatic rate over the past few weeks. Type One Gold Dollars are now changing hands between dealers at around $10,500. Dated St. Gaudens Double Eagles are also bringing premium prices, with one Gem condition 1927-S that we know of being offered at the F.U.N. Convention for $40,000. Indian Head Quarter Eagles and Eagles have also been strong in current weeks with bid price levels for choice specimens in virtually all dates increasing. (The one exception: choice 1933 Indian Head Eagles, whose bid price, while stable, remains the highest in the entire series.)

U.S. Silver

After breaking the formerly "unreachable" $40 per ounce barrier, silver bullion is now back to around $30-$35. As a result, a greater number of low-grade, common-date U.S. silver coins are now being directly affected by bullion price levels. For example, some silver dollars in AU condition are being melted down for the first time in recent memory. Again, analysts are predicting further rapid price movements for silver in the near future.

Meanwhile, in the field of highly collectible silver coinage, silver dollar prices are remaining stable for the time being. Gem condition dollars continue to bring amazing prices. At the F.U.N. Convention, there was a display of superb Barber Dollars being offered for from $12,000 to $15,000. The market for Gem type coins has followed this lead, with a spectacular Reeded Edge Bust Half Dollar trading for $19,000 between dealers.

U.S. Nickel & Copper

In response to the overall strength of the coin market, more and more collectors and dealers are looking for high-grade copper and nickel coinage. However, few specimens are being offered, and many F.U.N. Show buyers were forced to settle for lower-grade examples.

U.S. Currency

With rapid fluctuations occurring in the gold and silver markets, U.S. currency dealers seem hesitant at present to offer their complete inventories. Instead, they are holding back, awaiting increased price levels — and as demand grows, it won't be long before those levels are attained. Even the last Large Size $1 Note to sell in the $100 range in CU condition (FR #237) is now steadily increasing at the wholesale level. The small amount of quality currency that did show up on the F.U.N. bourse floor was quickly consumed, including a small hoard of crisp $100 notes, federal reserve notes, and a cut sheet of $20 gold notes. Meanwhile, the popular $5 Educational Note continues to elude dealers as demand for this key series grows.

The demand for currency in New Note condition continues to grow steadily. Again, dealers in this type of currency are reportedly holding back sales — some, in anticipation of the next A.N.A. Convention. There have even been reported refusals by some dealers to publish current price lists until the market cools.

World Coins

The world coin collecting scene was highlighted in early December by the huge New York International Numismatic Convention (held at the Sheraton Center Hotel in Manhattan). Although thousands of coins were offered at the convention, the amount of truly choice material was limited, and collectors and dealers competed for these eagerly. It seems that quality-consciousness in the world coin arena is growing rapidly.

The field of world gold has made great strides due to the unprecedented world demand for this precious metal. Accordingly, many dealers and collectors are purchasing choice condition and low-mintage gold coins at a pace so rapid that even the latest guidebook prices are now ridiculously low.

The 1979 Numismatic Price Index Summary

In the May, 1979 issue of Inventory Selections, New England Rare Coin Galleries began to trace and record U.S. rare coin price trends on a monthly basis by averaging the price movements of a balanced, representative sample of 144 major type and better date U.S. coins in MS-65 or Proof-65 condition each month.

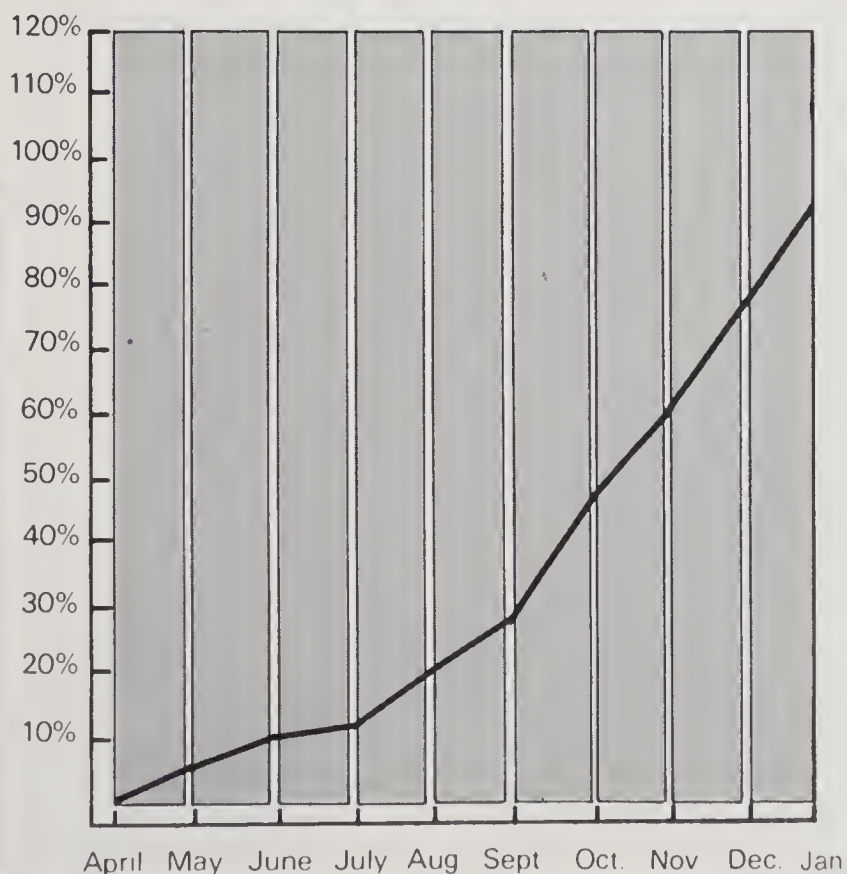

The following is a summary of New England's findings for 1979. Each graph depicts the total average price increase of a particular category of coins from April 1, 1979 through December 31, 1979. These price increases are represented as percentage points.

In 1979 rare coin values soared in all categories. Represented here is a graph of price trends for all U.S. rare coins from April 1, 1979 through December 31, 1979. As with our single-category graphs, this graph was derived by tracing the price movements of a balanced, representative sample of 144 U.S. rare coins.

I saw a 1799 Large Cent in a dealer's catalog described as "cleaned long ago but since retuned." What exactly does this mean? — B.B., Verona, NJ

Modern collectors strongly prefer coins in original condition, and consider it undesirable to attempt to "improve" the surface of a coin by cleaning, acid etching, or buffing. However, in former times the practice was much more common. Many copper and silver coins bear hairline scratches, peculiar coloration, and other evidence of earlier cleaning. Eventually, the original surface color may return. Sometimes a collector will try to hasten the process by artificial retuning. Copper coins have been rubbed with sulphur, buried in flowerpots, and wrapped in rubber inner-tubes. Some collectors would even wrap a coin in flannel and wear it next to the skin for weeks, exposed to the chemical action of human perspiration.

Needless to say, these practices are no longer recommended. If you have a cleaned coin, let nature take its course in restoring the proper color. And when buying coins, it is usually advisable to choose pieces that are strictly original. However, don't reject the "cleaned and retuned" coin on that basis alone. If the coin is scarce and in heavy demand, or if its surfaces have not been too noticeably affected by the cleaning, it may still be a good buy.

I thought my collection of Morgan Dollars was complete when I found an 1889-CC in an auction last spring. But now I've heard that there is a "paper" Morgan dollar which I am missing. Do you know anything about this? — R.T., Corland, NY

Silver Certificates, issued by the Treasury after 1878, were required by law to be backed by actual silver dollars deposited in the treasury. One note, the $5 Silver Certificate of 1886, was quite literally "backed" with silver dollars — five Morgan Dollars are depicted on the reverse of the note. The one obverse is an 1886 Morgan Dollar; the four reverses are also Morgans of unknown date.

Good luck in filling the last gap in your collection. The Friedberg numbers to look for are FR# 259-265.

I can see why bullion coins like the Mexican 50 Peso vary in value with the daily gold fixing. But recently I have noticed that even numismatic rarities valued at several times their metal content also rise with the price of gold. Why is this? — P.V., Bath, ME

Coin Collectors have established a traditional hierarchy of values, determined by the scarcity and condition of coins, that seldom varies. It is sometimes useful to think of this hierarchy as a ladder, with bullion coins at the ladder's base. If you lift that base, all the rungs above keep their relative positions — so as bullion prices increase, gold rarities move upward, too.

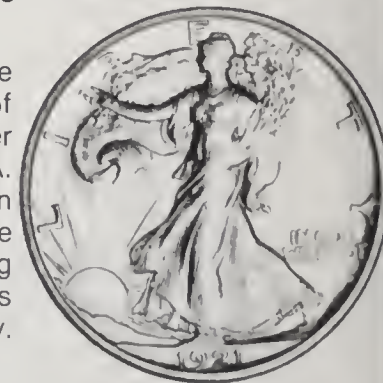

One reason for this "ladder" effect is that when gold makes news headlines, all kinds of collectors and investors increase their gold-buying activities. This increased over-all demand for gold, and gold coinage, results in across-the-board price increases. The big difference between bullion coinage and rare coinage, however, is that the value of bullion coinage increases in direct proportion to the price of gold. If gold goes up by 3 points, bullion coins go up by 3 points. Rare coin prices, however, are only indirectly affected — i.e. if gold goes up 3 points, demand for rare gold may increase 4, 5, 6 or more points.

Interestingly enough, gold has served as the standard of value for goods and money for so long that attempts to fix its value, and the value of objects made from it, always make fascinating stories. For example in California during the Gold Rush of 1849, gold dust was so abundant, and U.S. coins so scarce, that the price of supplies and necessities inflated beyond belief. A good meal went for the then-incredible sum of $5, and a year's rent in a San Francisco hotel was said to be $110,000. A variety of private mints sprang up to fill the need for coinage. Many of the mints did not give true value in their gold coins, short-weighting or debasing the metal brought in by miners.

In 1850, two U.S. Mint assayers, Jacob Eckfeldt and William DuBois, investigated the situation. They published their findings in a book which cataloged and evaluated all the different California Gold coins then circulating. The book contained a small packet of California gold, intended to be used by the reader to distinguish real gold from fool's gold. The book's price on the antiquarian market has also risen steadily with the price of bullion: One Texas bookseller is offering a copy for $1,500!

The Walking Liberty Half Dollar is a beautiful coin — Liberty looks almost alive and able to walk right off the coin if she chose. Even the eagle is strikingly natural-looking. Was the designer inspired by the work of St. Gaudens on the $20 gold? The designs seem similar. — J.B., Ogden, CT

The depictions of Liberty on both coins are similar in their vividly-rendered feeling of movement and space. However, the designer of the Walking Liberty Half Dollar, Adolphe A. Weinman, is said to have drawn his inspiration from the French 1898 silver 2-franc piece (shown here). This coin depicts Liberty sowing the seeds of freedom on French soil and was designed by the famous engraver, Roty.

LIBERTY HEAD HALF EAGLES

1839, AU-55.	1,750.00
MS-65. Sharply struck with gorgeous color and surfaces. A one-year type coin and possibly the most underrated of all gold types (with the possible exception of 1838-9 eagles). This is the first and only gem we have ever seen or handled. Our price may seem high now, but someday soon it could seem like a bargain. A priceless opportunity.	37,500.00

1856-O, AU-55. Full mint bloom and appears mint state. Akers writes: "The 1856-O is the second in the trio of rare, low-mintage Half Eagles struck at New Orleans in the mid-1850's. It has the lowest mintage of the three and is also possibly the rarest. Choice specimens are all but unknown and on the rare occasions this coin is available, it is invariably only VF or EF. I have seen relatively few of this date in any ugrade and none that would grade a full AU." On of the finest known examples of this rare date.	4,950.00

Our Complete Numismatic Services

1. Guarantees

☐ Grading

We guarantee that coins purchased from us are graded correctly and will meet our high standards when you wish to sell them. Further, we guarantee to purchase these coins at the same grade at which they were sold, or sell them for you at auction cataloged at the same grade at which you purchased them.

Our grading system is patterned after that of the American Numismatic Association. Developed in 1978, the A.N.A. System is rapidly being adopted by virtually the entire professional numismatic community. Its designations are:

Poor.....	1
Fair.....	2
About Good.....	3
Good.....	4,5
Very Good.....	8,10
Fine.....	12,15
Very Fine.....	20,25,30,35
Extremely Fine.....	40,45
About Uncirculated.....	50,55,58
Mint State.....	60,63,64,65,66,67,69,70
Proof.....	60,63,65,67,69,70

Slash grades indicate obverse/reverse designations. For example, a grade of 65/63 describes a coin with an obverse of Mint State 65 and a reverse of Mint State 63.

☐ Authenticity

We further guarantee that all coins sold by New England Rare Coin Galleries are authentic. To protect our customers, and as proof of our certainty that no altered or counterfeit coin can escape our attention, we guarantee to refund the full purchase price plus 15% compound annual interest, on any non-authentic coin acquired from us.

☐ Documentation

These guarantees are issued in writing with all coins purchased from New England Rare Coin Galleries. Each written guarantee is personally endorsed by two professional numismatists.

☐ Satisfaction

If, for any reason, you are not satisfied with your purchases, you may return them within 45 days of the date you received them for a full refund or replacement.
